Regarding Some Recent Foreign Media Reports

Some foreign media articles reported that ENPLAS would likely stop making Lens Units for mobile phones. Those reports are incorrect. There is currently no plan to stop making Lens products for mobile phones and we never made such a news release.

We expect strong business demands in the optical products market, and we will re-establish a strong optical business based on our ultra high precision mold technology with focus on competitive products.

In the mobile phone Lens market, we will constantly provide original value to satisfy customers' needs, and will proceed with our strategy to maintain and grow our profit performance. Thank you for your continued support to our business.
